

THE

We have found our self in a situation now on the planet earth, that needs immediate attention, and if we as a people do not do something about the state of the world, we are all going to obliterate this wonderful piece of real estate.

As a member of the human race and as a leaseholder of the planet, I have a vested interest in it's safety, so don't ask what right do I have shooting my mouth off about the present problem as I see it, if you don't give a dam, that is your prerogative, but don't forget that you too will reap the benefit when we the so called crazy ones have put it right.

I would now like to so jest a way to secure the longevity of the planet and its people, I will first begin by reminding everyone of where we are coming from, and where we are now, and the action taken by every generation over the last two hundred years, and when I look back on what mankind have done to each other, and still no end to the carnage, I get many sleepless nights thinking about what we are doing to each other.

“GREED”

Over the years and up to today the roiling class, have made a mess of the goods, and now it have gone sour and the smell is now unbearable.

It is now clear to me that the roiling class should not be called the roiling class anymore, they should be renamed to be called the shallow ones, and if I have to explained my self I will, but for now let me continue and you may agree with me when I am done. Greed seams to be The controlling factor with most government, or let me rephrase that, the corporations seams to have too much control over the government, the corporations tell the government what laws to write, how the hell did we get to this state.

THE SELFISH

The shallow ones who can also be called the selfish ones, were given the key to the box of life, and they disrespected the trust given to them by us the people, and instead of thinking of every one as a group,

They decided to joined forces with the big companies and handed over the running of the country to the C.E.O's ant the C.E.O's give the politicians a few crumbs, and the rest they take for them self, and in the process killed a vast number of people, just to satisfy their selfish need,

And now the time have come for the little people to take over this planet, and before you pop your eyes wide open, and then say, he want us to do what?

Let me tell you here and now that we have the numbers and the power to so do.

THE WINNING TICKET

You always had the winning ticket, but no one told you.

The police force that protect us all is made up of the little people, the army that protect this land is made up of the little people, all pilots in the air force that fly the skies to keep us safe, is also made up of the little people, the EM'S service is made up of the little people, the doctors are the little people, the people who design and make the vehicles that we drive is made up of the little people, are you with me so far, god I hope so, we run this place, so why in gods name do we let these selfish power hungry demigod mess up this wonderful planet, can you tell me that.

Another winning ticket

If you think for a moment about the planet and who owns it, you could not point to any one person and say he or she owns the planet, therefore we form a system called a government in order to keep order and stability, but the people we have place in charged of the deeds, have forgotten how they came by said deeds, and they have convinced themselves that they own the place, so I think it is high time that we remind these people, that we own the place collectively.

We have the numbers

They some times use the police to keep us closed mouth, without thinking that if the police themselves stop and think for a moment, they too would come to realize that what they do to us will some day be done to them, when they are retired and no longer have the protection of the mob.

Reflect on your action

The military is also used under the guise of national security, to keep us in check, but they too will some day out live their usefulness,

And when that day comes, they too will be on the other side of the fence, I too was once in the military and I served nine years as service to my country, and while I was in active service I was privy to some very important information, but now that I am a civilian those information is blocked from me, and the power I once had is no more, but I am still the same person.

I still have the skills thought to me while I was in the military.

My ability is no less, but my speed have reduced some what, because I have advance in years, but the knowledge gained while in the service is still in my head, so I speak from first hand knowledge, so pay attention and pray that I am not alone in thinking like this.

Respect your nab our

The borders of other countries is not respected, and it should, that must change, if you are strong and powerful, you have a responsibility to show restraint, even if it is only to show others who are more evil than you are, but do not have the power, just because you have the ability to do harm, a little self-control is some time a good thing, because the day may come when that evil person who was under your control for many years, get that power, think very hard on what argument you are going to use to convince that person to show restraint?

Not forgetting that you did not show any restraint when you had the power, pay back is a #%^* @ and you know it.

Remember that the longer you live, the weaker you get, and some people have the ability to wait, and they can wait until you are weak, then they will take revenge.

This is for the demigods of the world, please stand in front of a mirror, and just picture the things you do to others, coming back at you through the mirror, not pleasant is it?

Now I would like you to think on this for a moment, you will not see any president on the front line firing a gun, yet he collects the spoils from the victory, does it not make you think?

If you want to enjoy the fruit then I think you should be willing to cultivate the land, cut the grass and water to seeds, you must be willing to put a stake in the ground and tie the vine to that stake, so when the strong wind blows the vine will not go the way of leaves from the tree.

These are the things you must do in order to partake of the harvest, this then is how I see the world, you must put in, so you may take out.

If you knowingly concoct a story in order to get your own way, and in the process you kill a number of people, I call that murder, and I don't give a hell who you are, you are not god, and you should be brought to justice, you cannot create life, therefore you should not be able to take a life, there should be a world body that have the power to let the children of these evil men pay the price for what their parent have done, so not only will they leave a legacy of wealth, but the guilt will be closely linked to that wealth, is it not sad that they will not be able to spend all that cash,

Because they will be dangling from a rope, it is so sad, but it is a package deal, the things that your father and mother have done to set you up so well, is to be commended, in every since of the word, they have done well, give credit where credit is due, you should not be able to pick and chose the part of your legacy that you take, take it all, it belongs to you, the good the bad and the hugely.

This world body that I would like to see set up to protect us all, would guarantee justice for all, because even after they have killed me, I know that the world body will exact justice, and I could die with the knowledge that justice will be served, and my dignity will be left intact.
